

Zon's Mosaic BB5: Strong, Solid, And Traditional

REDWOOD CITY, CA - January 15, 2005 (For Immediate Release)
Zon Guitars proudly introduces the new Mosaic BB5 model 5-string bass guitar. Sporting very traditional body lines, the Mosaic BB5 was designed in collaboration with Vital Information bassist extraordinaire Baron Browne. The Mosaic BB5 is a 35"-scale bass that features an ash body, a three-piece, bolt-on maple neck with maple fingerboard, and Zon's new flat finish. Equipped with Seymour Duncan Jazz Bass-style pickups and passive electronics, the Mosaic is voiced for a classic Jazz Bass* tone. Enclosed mini tuners and Zon's 19mm brass bridge complete the appointments.

According to endorsee Baron Browne, ". . .this instrument is the closest to my beloved Fender Jazz that I've played. It is my Fender and more. With both volume controls up to full, the bass is very punchy, allowing one to get a Motown-y tone plucking near the neck or a Tower of Power-bottom-yet-percussive sound closer to the bridge. Those who are fond of a more Pastorius-bridge-pickup tone while turning back the front pickup will be pleased to find a nice low-mid slicing warmth without sounding too 1k nasal. This bass has an active presence to it without having active electronics in it."
